Dear Sir/Madam

I do not think anything would be gained by my filling in the enclosed. My lungalaw which I have lived in for forty odd years is now up for sale. Having invested badly with local agents toward 23 yrs of endowment policies at my husband's death five years ago I received £1000! Having tried to get Gov. advice on this matter was told coming now I will lose my home and have no material claim on renting the council - most lungalaws where I could live out my days around families in nearby villages, and friends in this village I do not know where the future lies. Having nursed my husband 23 yrs. severely disabled and brain damaged I feel life has been a bit unkind so anything on the enclosed form would be useless.

Yours sincerely
J. K. Parish
